Summary

I am Professor of Economics at the University of Vigo where I belong to the research group Rede and to the Galician cluster Ecobas. I am also director of Economics for Energy, a private non-profit research center devoted to the economic analysis of energy issues in Spain. Between 2014 and 2017 I was the director of the Florence School of Regulation-Climate at the EUI (Florence), dealing with EU climate policies. I was in charge too of the chairs on Energy and Sustainable development (UV, 2011-2019) and Climate Change Economics (FEDEA, 2007-2009). I am a member of the UN Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) for the elaboration of its Fifth and Sixth Assessment Reports (respectively released in April 2014 and forthcoming in July 2021). My teaching and research interests lay on the borderlines of Public, Energy and Environmental Economics. I have published more than 30 academic papers in English, most of them in high-impact academic journals. I have also published and edited several books and book chapters, and my research has been repeatedly disseminated in international academic workshops and seminars. I have assiduously organized scientific events, also as a means to disseminate knowledge to interested parties in society. I have been project leader of around 30 research projects since 2000, mostly funded by public institutions and private firms. I have supervised four doctoral theses and seven postdocs. I have always attempted to respond, with rigor and neutrality, to relevant socio-economic issues and looked for channels through which such findings could be widely diffused. In this sense I am a member of the EAERE's Policy Outreach Committee since 2018. I was awarded with the Galician Academy of Sciences medal of research achievements in economics and social sciences in its first edition (2019).
